FORGOTTEN LANDSCAPES

From the Middle Ages to the 18th Century

MOLENBEEK - KOEKELBERG - SCHEUT - BERCHEM-SAINTE-AGATHE

The exhibition, Forgotten Landscapes, invites visitors to journey back in time, offering an imaginary stroll through the Brussels neighborhoods of Molenbeek, Koekelberg, Scheut, and Berchem-Sainte-Agathe as they appeared from the Middle Ages until the 18th century. This unique experience features enlargements of historical maps and plans, rarely accessible to the public, complemented by a wealth of visual documentation, including original engravings, books, reproductions of artwork, and archival materials.

Through this journey, the exhibition restores the rural landscape, topography, and activities of these areas during these periods.

This collection provides insight into the evolving relationship between Brussels and its surrounding areas, highlighting the shifts in power between the burgeoning city and established feudal and ecclesiastical authorities. This exploration, rich in historical layers, gives visitors of all ages the chance to (re)discover places whose names and street layouts still echo today.
